Pedagogies for Diverse Contexts

Edited by Alan Pence, University of Victoria, Canada. and Janet Harvell, Department for Children and Families, University of Worcester, UK

Series: Thinking About Pedagogy in Early Childhood Education

Diversity can be a rich source of possibility and opportunity in early childhood education. Appreciating that learning and development are shaped by culture and context, history and values, the diversity of cases found in this volume provide a useful tension in considering one's own practices, policies and beliefs. Chapters draw on the knowledge and professional experiences of actors from a wide range of countries and cultures to provoke, to stimulate and to extend thinking, providing insights and examples relevant not only for front-line practice and programme development, but for training, assessment, research and policy development.
